

AUTO ROUTES TO WILLIAMSTOWN AND THE BERKSHIRES

Trunk Lines All in Fine Shape; Many Interesting Side Trips.

By O. M. Wells, Chief Roadman,
The Automobile Club of America.
One of the most delightful places in the Berkshires to spend the summer months is Williamstown. Good roads radiate in all directions and the geographical situation of the town is ideal for motorists wishing to locate a centre from which to make one-day trips through the charming scenic country of Western Massachusetts.
There are so many of these short motor trips that start from Williamstown and cover from seventy-five to 100 miles each that the motorist can make a run each day for two weeks without going over the same road twice.

TRUNK LINES ALL GOOD.

All the trunk lines going north to Williamstown from New York are in excellent condition at the present time, excepting for a few short stretches that are now in the process of construction. The most direct route is to follow the main trunk line to the Berkshires by going to Dobbs Ferry, then through Beard, Yorktown Heights, Carmel, Pawling, Amenia, Sharon, Lakeville and Salisbury to Canaan, where the Naugatuck Valley route is joined, then continue north through Sheffield, Great Barrington, Stockbridge, Leisex, Pittsfield and North Adams to Williamstown—126 miles.

The Naugatuck Valley route is a very popular one, along the shore road through New Rochelle, Rye, Stamford, Norwalk and Bridgeport to Stamford and then north through Shelton, Derby, Seymour and Naugatuck to Waterbury; the other route, not so congested with heavy traffic, runs north to White Plains, then through Armonk, Bedford, South Salem, Ridgefield, Danbury, Newtown, Southbury and Middlebury to Waterbury. From Waterbury, go north and join the Berkshires trunk line through Thomaston, Torrington and Norfolk to Canaan.

VIA ALBANY POST ROAD.

The Albany Post Road can be followed through Poughkeepsie, Hudson and Boscawen to Troy, where the route turns east to Williamstown; or a cross connection can be made from Poughkeepsie through Millbrook to Amenia and from Hudson through Hilldale and South Eggenmont to Great Barrington. From Valatie to Chatham, State Line to Stow, Lee and Lenox. From Albany through Nassau and West Leas-ton, over Lebanon Mountain to Pittsfield. From Troy either via Hancock and South Williamstown or through Hoosick and Bennington, south to Williamstown.

PICTURESQUE SIDE TRIPS.

The Mohawk Trail always makes an attractive and popular motor route. The start is made from Willamstown, and the road follows east through North Adams and over the trail to Greenfield, which is just thirty-eight miles from Williamstown, and an excellent place for a luncheon stop. The return can be made by retracing this road, which gives the view quite a different aspect. A change can be made by running south along the Deerfield River to Deerfield, then west through Conway and Ashfield to Littleton. From Littleton go west through Canaan, West Cummington, East Windsor, Windsor and Dalton to Colville, and there turn north through Berkshires, Cheshire and Adams to North Adams and back to Williamstown.

A pretty trip goes north from Willamstown over Pownall Hill to Bennington, then west through Hoosick, Pittsfield and Brunswick to Troy, stopping at Troy for lunch and returning via Congress Avenue to Wynantskill, Averill Park, Sand Lake, Alps, Stephentown, Hancock and through South Williamstown to Willamstown.

THROUGH HEART OF BERK- SHIRES.

There is also an interesting run over good roads from Williamstown to Manchester, returning the same way. Every motorist should go through the heart of the Berkshires, provided they are stopping at Willamstown, by running over to North

Adams, then south to Pittsfield, Lenox and Stockbridge to Great Barrington, returning through Housatonic, Glendale, Interlaken and Lenox to Pittsfield; or the route can be continued straight north from Glendale to West Stockbridge and Richmond, entering Pittsfield, West Housatonic and Shaker Village to Williamstown.
From Pittsfield another interesting run would be via Lansboro, New Ashford and South Williamstown to Williamstown.

A delightful afternoon's trip will be found by going through North Adams to Pittsfield, then west over Lebanon Mountain to Lebanon Springs, and north through Stephentown and Hancock and back to Williamstown. This route may be extended by going west from Lebanon Springs to Brainard Station, then north through a very rugged section known as the "Alps Route," through Alps, Sand Lake and Averill Park to Troy, returning through Pittsfield and Bennington to North Petersburgh, then through North Down and Pownall to Williamstown.

A REASONABLE RESTRAINT.
(From the Washington Post.)
"You never talk around?"
"No," replied Miss Cavanaugh. "The fact that people do something terrible is no reason why I should say something shocking."
